Jamie made clever use of an existing support column by transforming it into storage, bookcases and a media center. The ebony, lacquer, stainless-steel-and-brass clad structure effectively divides the space into two distinct areas. However unearthly Palm Beach may appear from the mainland — how high the hedges, how thick the walls — last week's SRO Town Council meeting might have been anywhere, attracting hours of debate about, what else, " ... noise, parking and traffic." We all have strong memories of our first few days at primary school, although nowadays most children tend to go to pre-school, so it is not such a shock to the system for them as it was for the children of the 1960s! In the 1960s there were no state pre-schools or nurseries, so for most children School days in the 1950s and 1960s. Culture UK. In this Diamond Jubilee year, our thoughts turn to what life was like in Britain 60 years ago. This is...
